COUNTY ELECTION

August 3, 1882.

FOR SHERIFF.

We are authorized to announce GEORGE R. HARRIS as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Montgomery county, at the ensuing August election.

Corn for Sale.

Gray & Bro. are selling corn at $1.50 per barrel, including sacks.

BUTTER—nice fresh butter, just churned, received every day at McComb, Huest & Co's grocery.

Clarksville Bible Society.

The Clarksville Auxiliary Bible Society will hold its next regular annual meeting, pursuant to adjournment, at the Methodist church on Sunday night next at 7 o'clock. The various churches of the city, co-operating in this work, will be closed in order to unite in this meeting. Rev. Dr. Geo. S. Savage, General agent of the American Bible Society of Kentucky and Tennessee, will be present, and very interesting exercises may be expected. Let there be a general turnout.

THE Rev. Geo. S. Savage, D. D., agent of the American Bible Society, will preach at the Methodist church on Franklin street, at 11 a. m., to-morrow.

HURRAH for 1882! She takes the sacrament, washed down with plenty of water.

BUCKS' ten-cent shaving saloon seems to be doing a thriving business.

No tobacco in our warehouses was injured by the water during the flood.

It is believed that the levy at Edmondson's ferry is not as badly damaged as reported last week.

THE session of the Kentucky legislature has been continued to February the 25th.

1847 steps down and out, and the briny tears trickle around the wrinkled cheek of the oldest inhabitant.

Up to last Sunday morning the sun had not shown to amount to anything, in 26 days. Rather gloomy weather.

THERE were between twenty-five hundred and three thousand hands turned out of employment in Nashville, during the high water.

THE steamer, Drouillard, passed up Tuesday morning from Cairo. She only made three landings between Paducah and this point.

THE railroad bridge has been a great resort for visitors during the high rise. They had a fine view of the waters from that point.

At ten o'clock on Saturday morning the river had reached the high water mark of 1847. It rose about a foot over that celebrated mark.

DAN O'LEARY, the famous pedestrian, won the one hundred-hour walking match in Nashville last week.

RAMEY HARRIS, a little son of Mr. George Harris, has some very fine Leghorn chickens. He offers to sell the eggs for a dollar per dozen.

JOSEPHINE is the place to buy cheap saddles, harness, etc. You can save money by reading his advertisement and then go and purchase of him.

ONE of the heaviest losers by the present overflow has been Col. G. Goodlett, who we learn, lost about $1,200 worth of fine hay that he had stacked on the bottom land of his Red river farm.

THE Bailey Warehouse.

Mr. T. K. Shelly's new warehouse has been completed, and he is now ready to receive, sample and sell all tobacco sent him. He solicits a liberal share of the warehouse business.

THE Appeal says: "Mr. Booth's engagement, of three nights and a matinee, was the best ever played in Memphis. The weather could not have been worse, yet the receipts were the largest ever taken by any actor in Memphis."

SOME drunken rascal, or mischievous boy, broke the glass out of a number of the glass-front boxes in the post-office on last Sunday night. If the perpetrator of this malicious act should be caught, he should be soundly dealt with.

Death of Mrs. Marion McClure Henry.

The death of this highly respected and universally beloved lady, which occurred on last Saturday morning the 21st inst., was not unlooked for, as she had been sick for many weeks, yet when the announcement did come, the heart of the whole community was touched with sorrow, and many felt a deep sense of personal and irreparable loss. She was the daughter of Hugh McClure, a native of the county of Armagh, Ireland, who was one of the early settlers of this city. Mrs. Henry was born here April 18, 1813, and was consequently nearly 69 years of age at the time of her death. She had resided here all her life and was married in this city February 17, 1832, to Gustavus A. Henry, who afterwards became one of the most distinguished lawyers, orators and statesmen, this country has ever produced and whose name and memory is held in sacred reverence and honor by all. Since his death, which occurred Sept. 10, 1880, she had never been herself and seemed to long for that "haven of perfect rest" where she could know and love again the one who loved her best here. Much could be said by us of her noble life and character, and of their married life, which was filled with whatever is lovely and true, beautiful and pure in this holy relation, but we give space to the eloquent, touching and tender address which was spoken by her beloved pastor, Rev. P. A. Fitts, at the funeral service at Trinity church on last Sunday afternoon.

This touching beautiful tribute to her memory had not been written and was delivered under the pressure of strong feeling. Mr. Fitts was urged to reproduce it and endeavored to do so as follows:

There are times when we who prefer to bury our dead in silence broken only by the Word of God—rare occasions when we feel that we must yield our wishes and our feelings. An entire community comes in its highest representative type and character to testify its interest and claim its part in this service. For the name of Marion Henry is historic here. She was born on the 18th of April 1813 and entered into the rest of Paradise on the morning of January 21st 1882.

We read of lives that "proved" from their mysterious runs a sacred domain. In whose calm death the beautiful and pure. Alone are mirrored; which, though shapes of light, have never found its surface, glides in and takes no shadow from them.

Such was hers, or if it took the shadow, kept it, changed by its charmed contact into light to drive the shadow from the lives of others. And am I repeating common-places to your memory? Then it only proves that you have been blessed for nearly three score years and ten with the presence and the benediction of no ordinary life. And one circumstance alone may qualify me to analyze the varied yet harmonious elements of this marvelous character as you could not, for none of you were strangers to her. I was, at least I would have been, but for the fact that, like the ancient philosopher who seemed to have caught a glimpse of the coming truth, the "incarnation" of Christianity, she "deemed nothing human indifferent" to her. And yet the breadth instead of diminishing, intensified the depth and earnestness of her affections. The sympathies that were as far-reaching as the wants and feelings of humanity itself were grappled "with hooks of steel" about her home. Loyal to every relationship she was true to the nearest and most sacred of them all.

It is no irreverence, because it is exaggerated, to say that her married life was a realization of the Divine Idea when God declared, the twain shall be one. A revelation and a lesson to this age of the truth it seems to be in danger of forgetting. "A thing of beauty" to all who saw that Vine entwined around a lofty column, the pride and ornament of its massive strength! And when that failed, the tendrils twining closer still; until the rent those leaves were covering brought to the crumbling column to the earth at last, the strong and tender vine, as if to break its fall, came with it. They were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided. "For since that morning of the day of rest, on which we gathered here around a casket in which two hearts were hidden, there has been a hidden life among us. Hid, as we believe, 'hid with Christ in God.' For she was a humble Christian, clinging with all the earnestness of her faith, yet with the helpless humility of a child, to the cross of Christ. The grace of nature and the grace of God combined to make her what she was! The departure of such a spirit from this poor earth cannot but leave it poorer still, yet—

"The sweet as you by year we lose" How grows in Paradise our loss!

And there we bid her, farewell, where "the glory dies not" and the grief is passed! "No fears to best away, no strife to heal. The past unsifted for, and the future sure."

The storms and clouds of life have cleared away, like last night's tempest, to reveal the light and beauty of a glorious day!

Elsewhere in this issue we publish a very feeling and touching obituary notice of Mr. Joseph G. Warfield, written by a true and intimate friend of the deceased. We can add nothing to this simple, honest tribute to his memory but to say that we, and all who knew Joe Warfield, know how worthy he was in every respect of the confidence, the friendship and the respect of all men.

His untimely death was greatly regretted by the whole community, and will be a good opportunity for our amusement loving citizens to hear this renowned actor.

THE most disastrous fire that has occurred at Atlanta, Ga., since Sherman's big bon-fire during the war, occurred there last Sunday morning, in which eight large buildings were burned, including the Wilson House. The loss on stocks and houses is estimated at over half a million dollars.

THE New Board of Mayor and Aldermen will be sworn in next Wednesday February 1st and the election of city officers will probably come off at night of the same day.

THE Chancery court will commence the 1st Monday in February.

WE have received the first Quarterly Bulletin for 1882, of farmers, residents etc., for sale in this State, compiled by A. W. Hawkins, commissioner of agriculture etc.

There are several valuable tracts of land in this county advertised for sale in the Bulletin. Parties desiring to purchase land or immigrate to Tennessee, would do well to send to the commissioner for the Bulletin.

THE navigation of the river will be resumed next week.

Mr. Alex. Well's Sudden Death.

The sad announcement last Thursday morning of the very sudden death of Mr. Alex. Well, which had occurred about two o'clock a. m., at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Phillip Lieber, was received with incredulity by his friends and associates who had seen him in the full vigor of strength and manhood only the evening before. The sorrowful news, however, was only too true. The only circumstances connected with his untimely death, which could be learned, are that about 2 o'clock young Albert Lieber, his nephew who was sleeping with him, heard something fall heavily on the floor, and jumping out of bed, found his uncle's body stretched over the floor, apparently dead. Doctors were immediately summoned, but life had flown long before they could have arrived. Their diagnosis was that he died of paralysis of the heart. Mr. Well was a bachelor, forty-five years of age, a native of Bavaria, Germany, but had lived in this country since his boyhood. He came to Clarksville five years ago and engaged in the drygoods business with his brother-in-law, Mr. Lieber. He was modest, retiring and gentlemanly and was greatly liked and esteemed by those who came in contact with him. His many friends attended his funeral on Friday morning, when they were carried to Louisville, where his aged parents reside, for interment.

From Rev. J. C. Putman.

Dear Brethren of the Ashbury Circuit: I adopt this method of reaching you, as many of you read the Clarksville papers.

I have now failed to fill my appointments for one entire round. This I regret exceedingly—my heart is in the work, "my spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak."

One month past, I trust that I am now improving though very slowly. The outlook is not at all favorable to my leaving my quarters any time in the near future. I hope, dear brethren, that you will keep up the regular services at your respective churches as far as practicable; secure the services of some minister if possible, if not, hold prayer-meetings.

Be sure to remember your afflicted pastor in your public and private devotions; that the gospel of the grace of God, which he has so long preached to others, may sustain him in this trying ordeal. I hope to be able to go in and out among you when the weather becomes favorable and settled.

Your Affiliated Pastor, J. C. PUTMAN.

MEMPHIS contributed over five hundred dollars towards the relief of the Nashville sufferers by the recent overflow of the Cumberland. Memphis, remembering her own dark days of sorrow and suffering, is ever prompt to the call of distress. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," is the golden motto which will ever find a generous response in the hearts of her warm-hearted citizens.

THE North American Review will present in its February number, Part III. of its series of articles on "The Christian Religion." It will be from the pen of Geo. P. Fisher, the eminent professor of ecclesiastical history in the Yale Divinity School—as thorough a scholar and as able a defender of the Christian faith as this country affords. A powerful presentation of the claims of Christianity is expected.

THE Paris (Tenn) Post says: "We learn that one case of smallpox, that of a negro man, is now in this county near Mansfield."

Paris is only about sixty miles below us and it would seem from this that this loathsome disease is gradually approaching us. Every body in Clarksville ought to be vaccinated. The disease is spreading all over the country and there is no good reason to suppose that we will not have it here.

PHILIP PHILLIPS, the famous composer of Sunday school songs, with his son James, is in the South on a singing tour. Mr. Phillips is called the "Singing Pilgrim," and has achieved a world-wide reputation as a leader in sacred song.

A recent notice of him says: "No lover of song could fail to be entertained; no admirer of vocal or instrumental music could fail in being gratified; no Christian could fail in being edified at one of the concerts of Philip Phillips and son."

It is rumored that Mr. Phillips will visit our city in his tour, and delight a Clarksville audience.

THE weather in the Middle and New England states during the week has been bitter cold. On last Tuesday the thermometer at New York City was six degrees below zero and at Norwich 33° below zero. Reports from all points in New York state tell of intense cold, the mercury averaging 16° below. The temperature throughout Canada was from 16° to 35° below zero. It is predicted that this intense blizzard will travel slowly South and will soon strike us. Be prepared and let her come.

Amusements.

Mr. Frank Chanfrau will give one performance at Elder's Opera House, this city, on February, the 9th, in his celebrated play of "Kit, the Arkansas Traveler." In this play, Mr. Chanfrau has no equal and never fails to please.

Mr. Edwin Booth, the king of tragedians, will play in Nashville on the 11th and 12th of February. This will be a good opportunity for our amusement loving citizens to hear this renowned actor.

THE most disastrous fire that has occurred at Atlanta, Ga., since Sherman's big bon-fire during the war, occurred there last Sunday morning, in which eight large buildings were burned, including the Wilson House. The loss on stocks and houses is estimated at over half a million dollars.

EDITOR CHRONICLE.—In your

last issue Esq. Slaughter gave an amount of the expenditures upon our new Court-house. I suppose nearly all of our people are satisfied with the cost as well as the fine building itself. He, however, makes a mistake in regard to the Episcopal church, which, in justice to the building committee, I think I ought to correct. He says the original estimate was $20,000 and cost over $40,000, and thus "percentage over original estimate 100 per cent." The facts are as follows: Total cost.....$41,984 05 Original contracts.....$27,750 00 Loss.....$14,234 05

This loss was occasioned by the failure of our contractors to carry out their contract, nearly the whole being lost on the stone work, Connor & Sisson being the contractor. So it will be seen that instead of its being 100 per cent. more than contract price, it is less than 50 per cent.

Matrimonial.

Mr. Sam. E. Wilcox of Dist. No. 1, this county, was united in marriage, on last Tuesday afternoon, to Miss Agnes Shackelford, the Rev. J. W. Lupton officiating. The happy ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sarah Shackelford, in this city, in the presence of a few intimate friends of the parties. The CHRONICLE throws its old slipper and a handful of rice after Sam and his fair young bride, and wish them infinite happiness.

On Wednesday last, Mr. Ed.

Marshall, of South Clarksville was united in marriage to Miss Lou. Gee, of New Providence. Elder Spencer of this city performed the ceremony.

The River.

The mighty waters are still around us and seem loth to depart, the river having fallen only about two feet up to Friday at noon since it first began to fall on Monday morning.

We have had several rains here during the week, but none sufficient to cause another rise.

River men predict that the waters will recede very slowly until they get back within the banks, when it will go out with a rush.

Reports from the Tennessee and Ohio state that those rivers are about on a stand-still.

At the present writing it is clear and pleasant and there is no more fear of rain.

The cold weather predicted for this region has not yet put in its appearance and is not likely to appear from the present indications.

NASHVILLE is sensibly agitating the question of free bridges leading to that city. This is a subject that might well be studied and calmly considered by the citizens of Clarksville. The turnpike and bridge tolls which have to be paid in order to reach this city, are no inconsiderable sum in the eyes of the country customers and patrons who would be glad to do business here. There is not a merchant here whose business has not suffered from this cause. The subject is one of paramount importance to the business interests of Clarksville, and ought to be thoroughly discussed and considered. We confess we are not well enough acquainted with it in all its bearings to say exactly, as yet, what ought to be done, but we will say that if there is a remedy, the citizens and business men of Clarksville owe it to themselves to discover and apply it. Thousand upon thousands of dollars are turned away from this city annually by toll-gate prohibitions. The subject is one worthy of much thought and on which much could be said.

Mr. W. H. TURNLEY, formerly a member of the firm of Turnley, Ely & Kennedy, of the Elephant Warehouse and well-known through the entire Clarksville Tobacco District, has accepted a position with the Grange Warehouse as soliciting agent and will also assist in breaking and inspecting tobacco. It is superfluous to say to the tobacco growers of this District of Mr. Turnley as a tobaccoist. His record for the last sixteen years speaks for itself, and we simply desire to let his friends and acquaintances know where he is, and that all tobacco shipped to the Grange on his account will receive his careful personal attention.

Clarksville Tobacco Market.

OFFICE OF THE CHRONICLE, CLARKSVILLE, TENN., JAN. 28, 1882.

Our sales this week were 41 hogsheads, almost entirely new crop, and of poor quality. The market was not as good as last week, but still better than usual at this season of the year. The market was very strong and prices were rather higher for all grades of leaf and leaf. The loose tobacco market is reported wild, and apparently without good cause. We quote:

Common Leaf	1 00 to 1 50
Good Leaf	1 50 to 2 00
Common Leaf	2 25 to 3 00
Good Leaf	2 25 to 3 00
Elite Leaf	3 00 to 4 00

Sales Reported Since Our Last Issue.

Grange Warehouse.

THOS. HERRING, Sup't., of the GRANGE WAREHOUSE ASSOCIATION, sold for the week ending Jan. 26, 1882, 12 hids. all in bad order, as follows:

7 hids. common leaf, at $7.50, 50, 50, 50	50, 50, 50
2 hids. leaf, at $8.25, 60, 60, 60	50, 50, 50
1 hds. head White River was offered, but rejected at $8.00.

Grange House.

SMITH, ANDERSON & BELL, of the Grange Warehouse, sold for the week ending Jan. 26, 1882, 5 hids. as follows:

1 hds. leaf, at $7.75, 75, 75, 75	75, 75, 75, 75
4 hogsheads leaf, 30, 30, 50, 50, 50, 50

Central Warehouse.

KESSELY, PERCIVAL & CO., of the Central Warehouse sold for the week ending Jan. 26, 1882, 5 hids. as follows:

2 hids. leaf, at $8.25, 60, 60, 60	60, 60, 60, 60
3 hids. leaf, at $8.25, 60, 60, 60	60, 60, 60, 60

Elephant Warehouse.

ELY & KESSELY, of the Elephant Warehouse, sold for the week ending Jan. 26, 1882, 20 hids. as follows:

5 hids. low medium leaf, $8.00, 75, 75, 75	75, 75, 75, 75
8 hids. common and low leaf, $6.75, 60, 60, 60	60, 60, 60, 60
13 hids. medium and common leaf, $8.25, 60, 60, 60	60, 60, 60, 60
20 hids. leaf, at $8.25, 60, 60, 60	60, 60, 60, 60

Market very strong and active with prices full on all grades offered.

Personals.

Mr. Patrick Henry left for his plantations in Arkansas on last Thursday morning.

Dr. J. H. Billingsley and family left for Florida on Wednesday morning, where they intend to reside in the future.

Our "old-time" friend, Mr. Wm. Searcy, returned on Wednesday night from a protracted visit to relatives and friends in Paducah.

Capt. E. M. Howard passed through the city last Sunday night, en route to New Orleans where his headquarters will be in representing his Cincinnati house.

Mr. Neil B. Larkin, son of Dr. J. M. Larkin of this city, left for Palatka, Florida, on Thursday morning. We wish him much success in the land of flowers.

Miss Kate Richardson and Miss Emma Edmondson, of the South-side, were visiting Miss Lucy Caldwell on Greenwood, the first of the week.

Mr. Charles Keesee, after an absence of several years in business at Pierce City, Mo., and other points, is now here on a visit to his relatives. His friends are glad to see him looking so well.

Mr. R. H. Edmondson, Jr. and lady, Miss Fannie and Irving Edmondson and Tommy Richardson, of the South-side, left last week for a visit to friends at Dexter City Mo. They will return as soon as the high waters subside.

The Columbia correspondent of the Nashville Banner says:

A German was given by the young men of this city last Friday night, complimentary to Miss Lillian Beaumont, of Clarksville, Tenn., at the residence of Col. Pickett. It was decidedly the most pleasant German of the season. It was led by Mr. John H. Barr and Miss Lillian Beaumont. The figures were mostly new and very beautiful. This city has an excellent German Club, and they are familiar with the latest figures.

NASHVILLE has forgotten the Dean engines for a short while, and is now much exercised over the building of a new free bridge over the Cumberland. A number of its city fathers are in favor of a new bridge which will cost about $120,000; while others want to purchase the suspension bridge. It is to be hoped they will soon bridge over the difference and use the capital city a free bridge. Like Clarksville she has suffered from a want of relief from the toll-collectors.

THE Glass has slipped out of the Gibson County Mirror, but it has not suffered thereby. It promises to be a truer reflector of the sentiments of the people with its new head-light—Northness—than ever before. We wish the Mirror success.

THE following table shows the highest water mark for the different years since the establishment of Signal service office at Nashville:

1872—February 20 and 21	46 3-4 feet
